

FROM TIME TO TIME IN this column, as many of you have noticed, we get involved in barren statistics and, undoubtedly, many times have bored you with our "findings."

We have always been interested in figures (we are referring to statistics) and what they mean, if anything, to all of us.

Obviously one can spend too much time on stuff like that and the conclusions often are not worth the time and effort spent pouring over the numbers.

We often put the results of our research (?) into this column because we feel somewhat guilty about spending so much time on our individual "numbers racket."

We may bore you to extinction thataway.

But, at least, our conscience is cleared a wee bit.

And that always helps.

TAKE AS A F'INSTANCE the recent news release from the Department of Motor Vehicles that we received.

It had to do with California vehicle registration covering the past two years. The release reported that vehicle registrations in the state had increased by almost one half million during 1970.

And, according to the release, 1970 was a relatively poor year in the automobile industry, a 3.7% growth compared to 5.16% in 1969 and 6.3% in 1968.

The figures were staggering, especially when the relationship between smog and cars has been well established.

And even 1970 was a poor year....

You mind if we rub our eyes a bit.

They seem to be smarting.

In anticipation, we assume, of a "good" year.

ALL OF THE COUNTIES were listed and the figures were broken down for autos, trucks, trailers, and motorcycles in each case.

In 1970 there were 542,650 autos registered in Santa Clara County compared to 522,557 in 1969, an increase of 22,557.

And there were 5,067 more motorcycles in the county in 1970 than there were the year previous...28,185 compared to 23,118.

Our "research" developed something else.

In seven of the 58 counties there was a decrease for the year in autos. But only in one county (Modoc) was there a decrease in motorcycles.

Mountainous Modoc lost 39 cars somewhere down the line (3322 compared to 3361) and two motorcycles (154 to 152). And there were 92 less trucks in that county than the year before.

True, the counties that showed a decrease in autos were the less populous ones and were mostly located in the mountain area: Modoc, Del Norte, Colusa, Plumas and Trinity. All except Modoc had an increased total vehicle registration, although in six other counties, the count for autos was down.

You might be interested in counties close by that showed a decrease in autos in 1970 but because of trucks and motorcycles still had an increase in total vehicle registration.

Are you ready?

San Francisco showed a decrease in auto registration of 1775 from the year before, BUT, would you believe it, The City gained 619 motorcycles in a year, plus 551 trucks and, hold onto your hats, 3286 trailers.

Now you take San Benito County, just over the hill from us.

Somehow San Benito County lost 22 cars during the year.

But, ye gods, that county gained 17 motorcycles and 23

Royer answers MacQuiddy's charges

What the written charges were against Neal Royer that caused the board of trustees of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District, by a 3-2 vote, to demote him from superintendent to principal on Oct. 8, 1970, were revealed this week.

And each of the charges have been answered by Royer on a point-by-point basis in an open letter to the public.

The charges were contained in a letter from Dr. Richard MacQuiddy, board president, dated Jan. 19, 1971, to Royer and were received after Royer had filed suit against the district on Jan. 17, 1971.

Royer's breach of contract suit, filed on his behalf by his attorney, Austin Warburton, claimed that the demotion was entirely without justification and that the board had failed to explain the action although repeatedly requested by him.

Royer, who has served the district as a teacher, vice-principal, principal and superintendent since 1948, succeeded Bill Henley as superintendent in 1964. He had been given a new four-year contract as superintendent in 1968. This contract has almost two years more to run.

In his letter to Royer, MacQuiddy claims that the demoted superintendent was responsible for the lack of harmony in the district.

MacQuiddy also criticizes Royer for specific instances whereby the majority of the board felt that he had failed to carry out the responsibilities in the supervision and management of district funds.

In his "open letter", Royer, answers MacQuiddy's charges point-by-point, pinpointing his answers to correspond laterally with the questions raised by the board president.

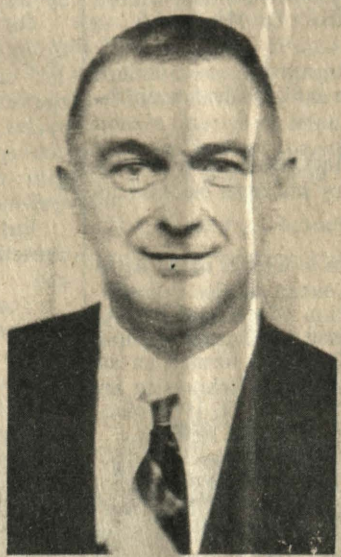

The demotion of Royer in October was largely responsible for the recall movement against two of the board members, Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong and Ralph

Board meets Thursday at Castlemont

Although "communications" will again be one of the highlights (five letters are listed on the agenda) at the board of trustees meeting this Thursday, March 11, at Castlemont School (7 p.m.), the board is expected to take action on the controversial audit report and to discuss a survey of class sizes submitted by staff.

The board is scheduled to approve and authorize payment of the annual audit filed by Cooper, Cooper & Collins. Criticism has been leveled from many quarters for the tardiness in the filing of the audit. William Cooper of the firm is expected to be present to answer questions.

The survey of current class sizes prepared by Fred Peterson, administrative assistant, reveals that the kindergarten class average (30.33) is the largest and the average through K-6 is 27.81. Grades 7-8 are 22.86, if shops, home-making, etc. are included, and 31.28, if not.

The total K-8, excluding special classes, is 28.50 and the overall total for the district is 26.12.

At the last board meeting, Hazelwood School faculty had asked the board to consider reducing class sizes for next year. The board indicated that class sizes would be kept as low as economically possible. The survey was the result of the discussion on the subject.

The board on Thursday is also expected to approve the on-the-job training program contract that was explained at the last meeting by Dale Mallett of the Mexican-American Opportunities Center.

In a covering letter, Jim D'Avis, acting superintendent, points out that the district will hire two trainees as vacancies occur through normal attrition.

Five letters that are listed on the agenda are from Edith R. Bonnet, Hazelwood Home & School Club Executive Board, Mrs. Robert L. Stewart, Gordon Abbott-H.R. Mestice and Dr. Robert L. King.

Trustee hopefuls to be at forums

Sponsored by Forest Hill PTA, the first of four school trustee candidate forum nights will be held at the Forest Hill School next Tuesday, March 16, at 7:30 p.m.

A similar forum will be held at Cypress School, sponsored by the Cypress PTA on Wednesday, March 24, at 7:30 p.m.

Two have been scheduled in April. On Thursday, April 1, Blackford Home School Club will host a candidates' forum and on Tuesday, April 13, the CETA will sponsor one at Castlemont School.

The five candidates who are seeking the two spots on the board, Jim Gilliland, Richard MacQuiddy, incumbents and Bob Lemmerman, Dr. Robert L. King and Ralph Anderson, have been invited to attend.

UNPRECEDENTED ACTION

Council "fires" two planners

In an unprecedented and dramatic action, the City Council, by a 4-1 vote on Monday night terminated the services of two long-time members of the Planning Commission, Jack Healey and Frank Klein. Their terms would not have expired until Aug. 1, 1972.

Healey was appointed to the Commission in Oct. 1962 and Klein in Nov. 1963.

After taking the action, the Council directed City Manager Bob Stephens to institute immediately the necessary steps to obtain replacements. Interested citizens are requested to apply at the city hall and appointments will be made to the vacancies after the usual screening and interviews that will be held.

It is understood that two applicants remain on the list since the last appointment was made.

The removal of the two commissioners came near the close of Monday's meeting. Councilman Bill Podgorske opened the matter by reviewing the actions of the two commissioners since the time Healey and Klein had disrupted proceedings of a Planning Commission meeting by staging a "walkout".

Podgorske said that he was in the audience at the last Commission meeting and was "embarrassed" by the actions of the two commissioners. He quoted from the minutes of that meeting in which both Healey and Klein took turns criticizing the City Council, claiming that the City Council had acted in "a high-handed and arrogant" manner.

Mayor Dean Chamberlin also reviewed the situation. He conceded that during and after the referendum election over the third screen of the Winchester Drive-In Theater, hard feelings had developed.

However, he pointed out that he had personally made a lengthy and sincere campaign to convince the two commissioners that they should accept the established policy of the city. But that has not happened, he added.

He said the two commissioners had refused to work as a city team, so it was his opinion that they should not work as private citizens.

He emphasized that it was a matter of principle to show respect for authority and that the Council is the only body that can make decisions in the city.

Councilman Ed Rogers, the lone councilman to vote against the removal of the two commissioners, maintained that he was convinced that now that the controversial third screen issue had been settled, the Commission would settle down.

He said he did not condone the actions of the two commissioners but felt that their removal was not the right answer. He described the removal as a "guillotine" action on the part of the Council and argued that the two commissioners should be present to defend themselves.

He claimed that the Council was acting like a court in this instance.

Chamberlin, on the other hand, maintained the Council was not acting like a court, but merely for the best interests of the city. He was convinced that it was impossible for the Planning Commission

POLICE AUCTION--This Saturday, March 13, at 10 a.m., the Campbell Police will hold an auction in the parking lot at the rear of the city hall at 75 N. Central. Articles that have been impounded by the police during the last six months will be offered for sale. The sales are held semi-annually.

Included among the items that will be on the auction block this Saturday are 54 bikes. Camping equipment and tools will be sold. A bow and arrow (held by Sgt. Frank Furtaw above) is also up for sale.

Two Chevrolet (1969) police cars that are being replaced by new ones will be up for sale. A minimum bid, however, of $600 is required for each of the cars. Sgt. Furtaw and Sgt. John B. Butler are in charge of the sale.

Panelists prepare for March 27 Congress

Final plans have been made for Campbell's fifth annual Congress for Community Progress, March 27, according to Rev. W. H. (Ben) Gould, general chairman. The "Congress" will be held at the West Valley College.

Panels will include ecology, education, law and justice, and taxation.

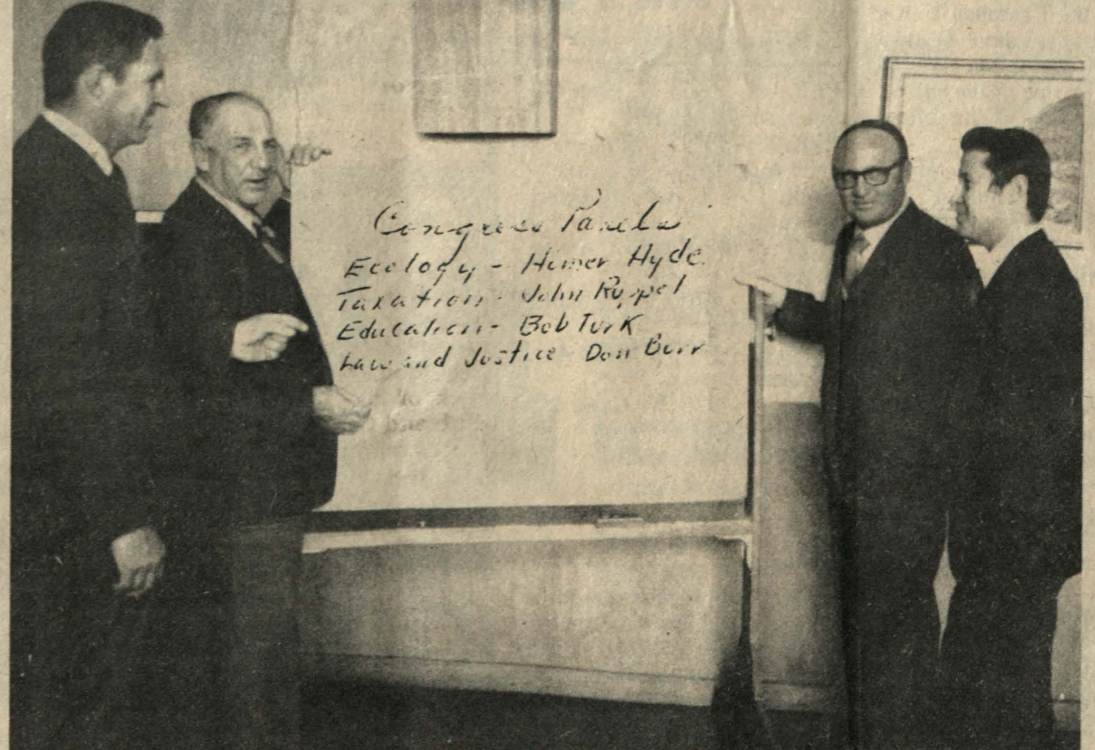

John Ruppel, city administrative assistant, will hold the taxation panel which will include Geoffrey Whittaker, finance director of the City of Campbell; John Eastburg, assistant finance director of Santa Clara County; James Gillespie, business manager, Campbell Union High School District; and either Dwight Mathiesen, County Assessor, or Douglas Parker of the assessor's office.

Panelists who will serve on the ecology committee are Don Lollock of the Department of Fish and Game; Mrs. Mary Davey, councilwoman, City of Los Altos; Victor Calvo, chairman, Air Pollution Control Board; and a student from the ecology club of West Valley College.

Education panelists will be Bob Turk, chairman; William Homan, president, West Valley College Governing Board; Herm Osario, teacher; Arland Hillyard, president, El Paradiso Council PTA, and Pam Knight, student.

Panels for the law and justice committee, headed by Don Burr, have not yet been announced.

The day-long event will be (Continued on Page 10)

Tickets for three remaining kiddie matinees sell for $1.50. Tickets at the door will cost 75 cents.

Dave Valkenaar, representing the JayCees, heads the community-wide committee for the benefit premiere and champagne reception on Wednesday, March 31 when "New Leaf", starring Walter Matthau and Elaine May, will be shown. Tickets for the affair are $6.

Two letters that tell the story

SUBJECT: An open letter to the taxpayers and employees of the Campbell Union School District
DATE: March 8, 1971

Much has been written about my demotion from the position of district superintendent to the position of acting principal by a 3-2 vote of the board of trustees on October 8, 1970, in a public meeting.

The demotion action was initiated by Dr. Richard MacQuiddy and he was supported by Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong and Mr. Ralph Steinberg. Mr. James Gilliland and Mrs. Judy Ruscigno voted against the action.

My demotion came without prior notice or advance warning to me, and my job performance had never been evaluated by the board of trustees.

No reasons were given for the demotion on October 8, 1970, but it was implied that written reasons would be given me on request. I requested such reasons shortly after the meeting of October 8, 1970, and 111 days later on January 19, 1971, I received written charges from Dr. Richard MacQuiddy, Board President. His charges and my answers are as follows:

CHARGES BY DR. MACQUIDDY

January 19, 1971

Dear Mr. Royer:

This letter is in reply to your request of November 17, 1970, for a statement of the reasons for the Board of Trustees' action on October 8, 1970. It will supplement the oral comments addressed to you and your counsel on November 30, 1970.

Your actions in supporting the campaign of certain candidates for the position of trustee and seeking to influence the outcome of the election were improper. Specifically, a majority of the board is concerned with your:

- (1) participation in the preparation and distribution prior to the April 15, 1969 election of letters purporting to represent the views of the Campbell Elementary Teachers Association; the letter was not prepared by the Association and contains misrepresentations of fact;
- (2) participation in the preparation and distribution prior to the February 17, 1970 election of written materials purporting to represent the views of Campbell Elementary Teachers Association; the letter was not prepared by the Association and contains misrepresentation of fact;
- (3) participation in the preparation and distribution prior to the February 17, 1970 election of written materials purporting to represent the views of the A.B.C. Unit of Campbell Elementary Teachers Association and Gordon Martin; the materials were not prepared by the Association or Mr. Martin, and contain misrepresentation of fact;

Your publication on August 6, 1970 of remarks critical of the business manager of the district in the presence of other district employees was improper.

Your solicitation of complaints from parents of children against a school principal in 1970 was improper.

Your failure to act in a timely fashion to inform the Board of Trustees or to recommend to the Board of Trustees of the need for or advisability of conducting a tax increase or bond interest election during the 1969-1970 fiscal year demonstrated a lack of initiative. While you suggested on June 20, 1969 that a tax election be held in September 1969, inactivity on your part resulted in no election being held until June of 1970. The board did not receive your formal recommendation for an election until the last regular meeting at which the election within the 1969-1970 fiscal year could be called.

In your capacity as designee of the Board of Trustees, you failed to advise the board adequately as to the content and direction of meetings and communications with the negotiating council. In particular, you did not communicate to the board the position of the council with regard to personal leave and sabbatical leave nor did you provide members of the board with material concerning the assessed valuation and financial condition of the district in a timely fashion. You failed to initiate or recommend corrective action to prevent the breakdown in communication between the Board of Trustees and the Negotiating Council.

You failed to carry out your responsibilities in the supervision and management of district funds. Specifically, a majority of the board is concerned with your:

(1) approval or direction of the purchase of equipment, consisting of a line marker with student body funds. The equipment was delivered to the corporation yard.

(2) approval or direction that certain certificated employees have their salaries paid during the 1969-1970 school year from funds provided under the Title I reading program when they were engaged in activities not related to the program. You took no action to correct this matter after it was brought to your attention in May of 1970.

You performed the duties of district superintendent in the manner which did not promote harmony or trust within the district. Your relationship with members of the Board of Trustees and other members of the administration has been characterized by a lack of harmony. Your relationship with employee organizations has not been harmonious. You have demonstrated to the majority of the Board of Trustees that you are not capable of restoring harmony within the district staff and community.

Board of Trustees

It is my intention to use every means at my disposal to be reinstated to the position of district superintendent and to serve in that capacity until my contract expires on June 30, 1973.

It would be my pleasure to discuss the above charges and responses with any individual or group at any time.

Sincerely,
Neal Royer

WE TOLD YOU WE GET carried away at times when we get involved in statistics.

Still you probably will have to admit that now that all of us have become so ecology minded that it is good to know that there is one spot in the state where one can go where cars are diminishing.

At least that was the case in 1970.

Hail to ol' Modoc County... population 7,200 with 6,671 vehicles, including 152 motorcycles.

On the other hand, Alpine County, population 500, had 195 cars, a gain of five from the year before and 14 motorcycles, also a gain of five. The county now has 77 trucks (a gain of one) but only 35 trailers, a loss of seven.

But we think we have carried this about as far as we can.

You might be interested, however, in knowing that there were 1180 less autos, registered from out-of-state in 1970 than in 1969. BUT there were 7,486 more out-of-state trucks and 298 more motorcycles.

Just one more figure and we will let you go.

Last year (a bad year?) 1,287,719 NEW autos, trucks, trailers and motorcycles were registered in California and 455,421 out-of-state vehicles changed to this state's registration.

Wow...

If it is any consolation, the owners of 1,247,000 vehicles left them unregistered for various reasons, junked them or drove them out of state.

Come to think of it, how does one get to Modoc County?

Of course, there is one problem.

What are you going to do when you get there?

IN THE MAIL THIS WEEK by special delivery came the "advance report" of the 1970 census of population and the 1970 census of housing.

As you can imagine, there were a lot of interesting figures in those two booklets.

But we wouldn't dare this week to tax your patience any more than we have already with statistics.

However, Santa Clara County's official population is now 1,064,714 up 65.8% from the 1960 figure of 642,315.

Campbell grew at even a faster rate.

Campbell's population is 24,770...officially.

The people count was 11,894 in 1960...

That means that the increase was more than 100% in 10 years.

According to the official federal census, the population for Campbell was listed as 23,938 white, 45 Negro and 787 other.

But that's as far as we will go this week with the census figures.

We will leave some of the other tidbits we gathered for another issue.

IT HAS BEEN PREDICTED that the Campbell Union (elementary) School District trustee race (election on April 20) will be one of the hottest in the history of the school district.

We thought it fairly safe to use the word "hottest" because it covers so much territory.

And one can read into it almost what one wants.

A high turnout of voters is expected, an anticipated 50%, some "experts" have submitted, compared to a 20% or less in past trustee elections.

Incidentally, three of the five candidates for the elementary board are "doctors". However, don't expect the doctors to prescribe for your physical ailments.

Two of them, Richard MacQuiddy and Ralph Anderson are "Ph.D's" while Bob King is a doctor of veterinary medicine.

Jim Gilliland, the incumbent, and Bob Lemmerman are the two candidates that don't use the "Dr." prefix.

IN THIS ISSUE APPEARS the long-awaited "charges"

Proposed Dell - Division street project develops "road blocks"

Faced with complicated legal problems, involving equity benefits for the participants in a projected industrial street improvement program, the City Council on Monday night directed staff to explain the problems to the property owners in the Dell-Division industrial area.

Property owners on the two rundown industrial streets had requested the city to participate on a 50/50 basis in the improvement of Dell and Division. The city's cost for the project was estimated at $108,000 which would be financed from street bond funds.

The property owners, in their request, pointed out that in various residential street projects the city had contributed two-thirds of the cost. The city policy, established when the bonds were passed, has been to give priority to residential street improvements.

A majority of the Council had looked with favor on the proposal to improve the two industrial streets but wanted city attorney and engineering staff to check out the situation.

City Attorney Bob Dempster explained that one of the difficulties involved was that a number of industries in the area have bonds on file for 100% street improvement and the Council would have to rescind these agreements, if the 50/50 basis was established.

If the city did not rescind the bond agreements and continued with the 50/50 proposal, he explained, this would be treating one group of property owners differently from another. It is further specified, Dempster said, by city resolution that the city is prohibited from changing existing contracts.

Many contribute to Morgan fund

Police Chief John D. Morgan, stricken by a cerebral hemorrhage almost a month ago (Feb. 13), still remains in the same grave critical condition in the Los Gatos Community Hospital.

John Morgan

Friends of the stricken chief (which seems to include the entire community) have responded in a material way in contributing to the "John D. Morgan Fund" that has been set up in both branches of Bank of America in town (PruneYard and 125 E. Campbell).

Capt. Don Burr, who has been named acting chief, reported this week that more than $2500 has been deposited in the fund which was established to help the family defray the medical expenses not covered by insurance.

Burr said that only part of the cost of the special nurses, for example, is covered by insurance. Approximately $1300 has already been expended from the fund for that purpose, he added.

Tellers at either branch of the BoFA will accept contributions to the fund, as will any police officer. Donations will also be accepted at the city hall.

City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan, Capt. Burr and Sgt. John B. Butler are administrators of the fund.

The city staff reported that there have been four previous street improvement districts in industrial areas and no city funds were used.

Bill Wren, public works director, also pointed out that his department was still hopeful that something could be worked out to the benefit of the property owners and the street.

It was on that hopeful note that the Council then directed the staff to continue to work with the people involved and to function properly under the present circumstances.

Councilman Bill Smeed stated that it had become apparent that the Commission "could not straighten out their own mess" and it was now time for the Council to act, for the City could not afford the constant bickering that was taking place.

Councilman Ralph Doetsch submitted that the drastic action of removal of the two commissioners was not taken on the spur of the moment but had been building up for a long time. He referred to a letter that some of the commissioners had written to the Council more than a year ago criticizing the Council. The Planning Commission is an advisory body, he emphasized, and should remain as such.

Doetsch added that, although he had not attended the last Planning Commission meeting, he had read the minutes of that meeting and was particularly incensed over the words that the two commissioners had used in criticizing the Council.

The motion to remove the two commissioners was made by Podgorske and seconded by Doetsch.

Before the motion was put to a vote, City Attorney Bob Dempster, at the request of Mayor Chamberlin, ruled that the City Council had the authority to terminate the services of any member of the Planning Commission simply by a majority vote. Dempster said that was specifically spelled out in the city ordinance (2408.2) establishing the Commission.

to explain the dilemma in which the city found itself.

In another street improvement matter, the Council approved the necessary resolutions that put the wheels in motion for the improvement of Virginia Ave. from Campbell Ave. to Bucknall. The city will finance two-thirds of that project and the property owners will put up one-third.

The Council specified that the city's share would be based on the minimum cost estimate and not for the more elaborate plan, favored by the residents, whereby parking lanes would be eliminated and replaced by circular driveways. If the residents wanted to go the more expensive route, the Council indicated, they could.

Sewers are being placed in the street at the same time, it was pointed out, which raises the total improvement cost for the residents.

The Council also heard a report from Wren on the design public hearing on the proposed Highway 17-Campbell Ave. interchange.

The hearing will be conducted by the Division of Highways at Castlemont School at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, March 30.

The City Council on Monday night established a schedule of uniform rates for towing firms doing business within the city limits as recommended by the police department. The rate schedule specifies charges for night and day tows and other fees that the firms charge involving the removal of cars.

Letters to the Editor

UPSET BY LETTER

Dear Editor,
I have never felt such complete disgust for an individual as I do for Mr. Lewis, after reading his letter to the editor March 3, 1971.

Mr. Lewis, you may disagree with Dr. King politically, but since when does an adult attack a man's political views by suggesting his children have questionable parentage? ("Come now Dr. King, doesn't your wife [if you have one] etc.")

You are well aware that Dr. King is married and to attack their own child and their two adopted children in such a manner is despicable.

There have been many heated views exchanged in the Letters to the Editor, in recent months, but until now they have been kept on an adult level. It is difficult to even try to comprehend the type of thinking that attempts through inuendo to smear young children incapable of defending themselves. Our children are our most precious gift, no matter how they come to us, and I might add that not all adopted children are illegitimate if you would care to look up the statistics.

I would hope that in the future you will confine yourself to playing your games by adult rules and not subject the citizens of this community to such garbage.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Robert Piper
65 W. Hamilton Ave.
Campbell, Calif.

FACTS WRONG

Mr. George Vierhus,

As so often happens, you seemed to have made some observations which vary from the facts as they occurred at the recent planning commission meeting and as recorded in the official minutes.

The motion for denial by Klein was defeated 4-2 as the minutes will show.

And as often seems to happen in your paper, the recommendation to the council on my motion contained the wording that the ordinance provisions relating to the application be STRICTLY ENFORCED. Taking it out of context as you did, completely negates the meaning of the motion.

Setting the record straight would be appreciated.

Yours for more factual reporting, thereby promoting better community relations,
Sincerely,

Merrill Grim

TIME FOR SOUL-SEARCHING

To The Editor:
Like many people, I have been reading the letters of varied opinions to the editor for several months with mixed emotions. Many times I agreed or disagreed, was disgusted, amused, or appreciative of their contents. But I honestly was shocked and angered at Mr. George Lewis' letter recently.

As most of us know, recall has brought about two opposing sides. People have weighed and I hope, studied the facts and made a stand for that side they believe is the right answer. Some people may have been swayed because they liked or disliked those involved.

Although I am definitely for recall, I have many friends and acquaintances who feel quite different, and we communicate quite strongly and frequently about recall. But I cannot see slinging mud and slandering as Mr. Lewis did just because he does not agree with Mr. Abbott and Mr. Mestice.

To accuse Hank Mestice and Gordon Abbott of pitting teacher against teacher, neighbor against neighbor, definitely shows Mr. Lewis knows very little about either man. Both men have and are working with several Home and School Clubs, active in Buccaneers, Little League, various organizations and admired and respected by teachers, neighbors and many friends.

I'm not stating that either man is infallible or always right, but they're always in there helping and working for any just cause in our community. And if they're trying to incite the teachers, neighbors, and friends, then they'd better quit working so hard with them and for them, and stay home - which either rarely gets to do.

They may not always be popular with all people, because they do stand up and speak out for that which they believe, and then dig right in working. I'm sure we all know a lot of people who work their mouths and that's all they do.

May I particularly point out that Mr. Mestice's referral to "Mrs. Mitchell, wife of a teacher," was simply meant as a means of identification and not an insult. To indicate any other motive is senseless.

As the wife of a former teacher, present educator, I was always proud to be referred to as a teacher's wife, and when I state my opinions, I am a teacher's wife but speaking my own thoughts.

The teachers, educators and their families should be able to speak out their opinions in this community without fear of jeopardizing their jobs or families. Both Mr. Mestice and Mr. Abbott have expressed similar opinions.

I think it's time for all of us to sweeten our tongues, do some soul-searching, and to honestly think about those people working unselfishly and unworshipping for various issues they believe in; and those people whose motives are not directed strictly to the betterment of this community.

GIRL SCOUT News

More than 100 junior Girl Scouts from Campbell welcomed guest speaker, Sally Bunowski, during "Thinking Day" ceremonies at Campbell School recently.

Commemorating the Juliette Lowe Foundation, which funded her recent trip to the Philippines and Expo '70 in Japan, Sally outlined, in glowing terms, the Senior Scout opportunities available to her younger Girl Scout sisters in the field of travel abroad.

She showed color slides of her trip as she talked. She led the group in an international "hello" song and she wore a native "island" dress over her uniform.

Campbell Camp Fire Girls and 4-H Club Girls were invited as special "friendship" guests.

Troop 303 from Sherman Oaks School conducted the opening ceremonies.

Troop members from 861 of Campbell, took individual portions of the program; Julie Camarda welcomed guests and explained the international flag display made by Troop 239 of Neighborhood 10.

Michelle Zuchetto, Tammy and Terry Nedwick, Janet Wandel, Linda Mason, Lisa Mariman and Sharon Aubineau demonstrated each part of the World Association Pin and its meaning.

Peggy Dillon related that Girl Scouts all over the U.S. contribute to the Juliette Lowe Fund on Feb. 22 (usually one penny for every year of their age) so that deserving Senior Scouts may visit foreign scouts as friendship emissaries.

Troop 1018 from Rosemary School and No. 603 from St. Lucy's were on hand to assist Stacey Martin from Neighborhood 42 and her mother with nearly 100 dolls dressed in Girl Scout uniforms of foreign countries.

Barbara Daley, professional adviser to Neighborhood 17 from the Santa Clara County Girl Scout Council, accepted the Juliette Lowe donation from the girls. She promised to forward it to the National Girl Scout Council. Mrs. Richard Crapo, Neighborhood 17 chairman, and Mrs. F.H. Clough, junior scout adviser, helped her carry it from the stage (1,638 pennies).

Troop 669 from Dover School officially closed the event. Many remained to view displays and join group singing led by Sue Barkis and Missy Walsh, senior scout Service members, and Kathy Percer from senior troop 311.

Three national parks had start in John Muir House

The Bay region around San Francisco has many fine attractions and one of the finest sets atop a knoll overlooking the Alhambra Valley near Martinez, says the California State Automobile Association. It is the house of John Muir, one of California's nobler citizens.

Muir spent the last 24 years of his life in the gray mansion which has been made into a National Historical Monument. It was here that many of the writings, books and letters which were instrumental in the creation of at least three national parks and the U.S. Forest Service were written.

Originally built in 1882 at a cost of $10,000 by Muir's father-in-law, noted horticulturist Dr. John Strentzel, the five-level mansion is being restored to the 1906-14 period by the National Park Service.

It was from the Alhambra Valley home that the Scottish born geologist, who was also a glaciologist, conservationist, scientist and author, ventured forth alone to roam the wilderness, especially his beloved "Range of Light"—the Sierra Nevada.

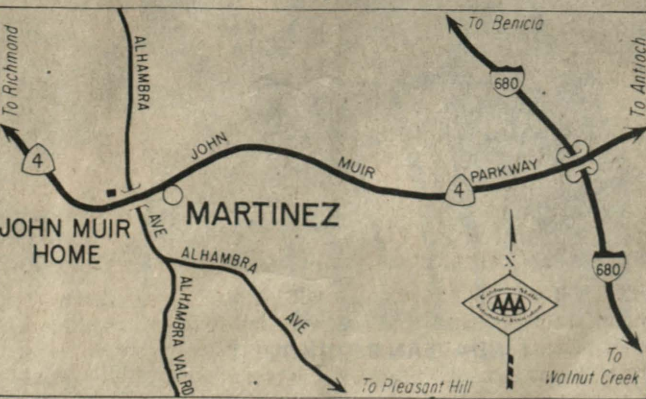

And it is this area that helps to set the mood for visitors to the Muir house as the tour starts with a color slide presentation of the Sierra, narrated by quotations from his wilderness writings. Two giant California fan palms greet the visitor at the entrance to the 17-room mansion. The tour includes visits to the formal parlor, the library, kitchen, dining room, living room, the upstairs bedrooms, Muir's study and the attic. You can also look into Mrs. Muir's bedroom.

Muir's study contains the only piece of original furniture, his desk. It was in this curtainless room (Muir liked to be able to see out of the windows which afforded a view over the valley), that the famed Scotsman spent hours writing and rewriting his manuscripts. A picture taken in 1908 from these windows shows the view Muir once had. Most of the 3,500 books Muir kept here in the study are stacked in piles about the room, in the closet and on the shelves.

The family picture on the dining room table illustrates a bit of family life about which Muir was adamant: that all members of the family sit down together for the evening meal. One way he assured this was to tell a story of one of his mountain adventures promptly at the appointed hour.

Italian marble shipped around the horn graces the original seven fireplaces. Vandals are responsible for the pieces missing from the one in the formal parlor.

Before or after the tour, be sure to take a stroll about the grounds where the Park Service has planted small vignettes to represent the different types of fruit and trees which once covered the ranch.

At the other end of the historic site stands the graceful balconied adobe built in 1849 by Vincente Martinez on Rancho El Pinole. The interior is not open for visitors but you can walk around it and look in the windows.

The Muir House is open daily, except for Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's. Guided tours begin at 10 and 11 a.m., and 1, 2, 3 and 4 p.m.

TREE PLANTING—A sixth grade Camp Fire Group, Kin-So-Ta, planted a six-foot evergreen tree at Bucknall School as a memento of their years of attendance at the school. The girls earned the money for the tree by having a garage

Reinicke, principal of the school attended. The girls were assisted with the planting by the school gardener, Bill Allen. Mark Pyle of Cupertino Nursery helped in selecting the donated tree.

(center) Campbell High student speaker, with awards the student won in the Voice of Democracy program sponsored by the VFW. Young Rosenthal, who delivered his contest-winner 3½-minute speech at the Council meeting, was winner of the post and county contests and placed second in the district. He received a total of $100 in bonds for his efforts.

SPEAKER—David Rosenthal, Campbell High speaker, at the podium at the City Council meeting giving the 3½-minute speech that gained him awards in the "Voice of Democracy" program sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Mario, 17, arrived in San Francisco after first seeing two Michigan cities, Battle Creek and Detroit. This is his

TROOP 318 COURT OF HONOR
Eagle scout Kit Viale featured Troop 318's semi-annual Court of Honor and potluck supper held recently at Bagby School.

Honored were Tenderfoot scouts Peter Angelidakis, Chris Avina, Chris Bryant, Clay Casey, Robert Marcy, Mike Needles, Charles Pell, Michael Pierron; and 2nd Class scout Paul Shaheen.

Earning 1st Class status were Jim Bryant, Bryon Jaques and John Goodman. Greg Chirichigno, Jack Muller, and David Sarsfield received their awards for the rank of Star; and Paul Daily came away with the Life pin and badge.

Assisting three members of the Knights of Dunamis, a group of Eagle scouts, who conducted the Eagle ceremony, was special guest Ralph Story, Scoutmaster of Troop 399, whose troop of mentally retarded scouts was assisted for almost a year by Kit Viale and other scouts under Kit's supervision.

Also honored were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Viale.

Troop 318, under Scoutmaster Robert Wilcox, is sponsored by the Ida Price Home and School Club, and meets Tuesdays at the Cambrian Youth Center.

first trip to the U.S. and as a first impression he commented, "Very good".

The senior will be staying with Phil Claussen and his family for this semester as part of the YFU (Youth for Understanding) program.

When asked why he wanted to be an exchange student Mario replied, "For learn English".

As part of his visit to the States, Mario hopes to see Disneyland, and the park with the big trees (Yosemite).

Mario's schedule here at Camden includes: U. S. History, English, P.E., Study Hall, Biology and Algebra II. Yet he won't get credit for these courses, and must complete one more semester after he returns to Brazil.

The school systems in Brazil are very different. Mario couldn't even compare them to ours.

"It's very big and very interesting," was his comment on his first reaction to Camden.

Mario likes Camden very much, especially Algebra, Biology, and his teachers.

Mario's father is a congressman in the Chamber of Representatives in Brazil. Aside from his parents, he also has three brothers, Nario, who is 24, Aurino, 22, and Eurico, 11.

Mario enjoys playing football and going to movies in his spare time.

His future plans after returning to Brazil are to go to college and become an engineer or a doctor.

Branham High

By Roberta George and Mary Watson

Loneliness ends for new students at BHS.

Branham's newly formed "Welcoming Club" makes sure of that!

A group of interested students established the club and those people who join, will then be paired with transfers according to their main interests and schedule.

"The program has already been put into effect with the sophomores. Right now our only problem is that not enough juniors and freshmen have signed up," explained club chairmen Theresa Kane and Cathy McAbee.

Meanwhile BHS students speak out and open their minds and mouths at the "lunch forums" held on Thursdays.

This new channel of communication is open to both students and teachers who want to talk about anything from school problems to the war in Vietnam.

Tim Rudolph, speaker of the house, added that a councilman will be present to answer questions and take back suggestions.

Man On the Street

with CARL WINTHER

Years ago, it was "the manly art of self defense" and "body building" by such muscle men as Farmer Burns, Frank Gotch, Charles Atlas and Bernarr McFadden.

Today, it's Judo, Karate and other forms of mystical Oriental skills for self protection without weapons. One such is the fast growing Campbell Self Defense Studio conducted by Rod Ebertowski at 1410 W. Campbell Ave. in the rear of the Straw Hat building. The particular type of Karate taught by Ebertowski is Kenpo Karate.

Kenpo Karate, as known here, originated in Hawaii at Prof. Chow's school. Chow acquired the art from his father. The skills, which date back to ancient times, were handed down from father to son, generation after generation.

Karate is a highly effective form of self defense, and is not dependent upon a powerful physique to be successful. The most sophisticated forms of Karate are almost as much a mental process as a physical action, according to Ebertowski. It can be valuable to anyone with a real desire to learn it, man, woman or child from six to sixty. Ebertowski's classes include a six year old boy and a sixty year old man, both of whom are doing well.

Secretaries, housewives and store clerks are showing an increasing interest in the self defense skills they can learn by attending part-time classes. Women instructors are available. It takes about four months to learn how to "handle yourself well" and about six months to enable you to take on about anything "on the street".

Ebertowski tells of a secretary who was attacked in an elevator by a wild-eyed man. In a matter of seconds, the man was incapacitated and lying helplessly on the floor. Without her karate skills, the girl would have been another helpless victim of a sex maniac.

The Campbell Self Defense studio is a branch of the original Almaden Kenpo Club on The Alameda, where Ebertowski was a student and then a partner with instructor Sam Brown.

Ebertowski is a native of New York and is a former professional boxer. He started boxing in a boy's club, went on to fight in 71 bouts as an amateur, losing only three. As a professional, welterweight division, he fought 16 bouts, losing only two.

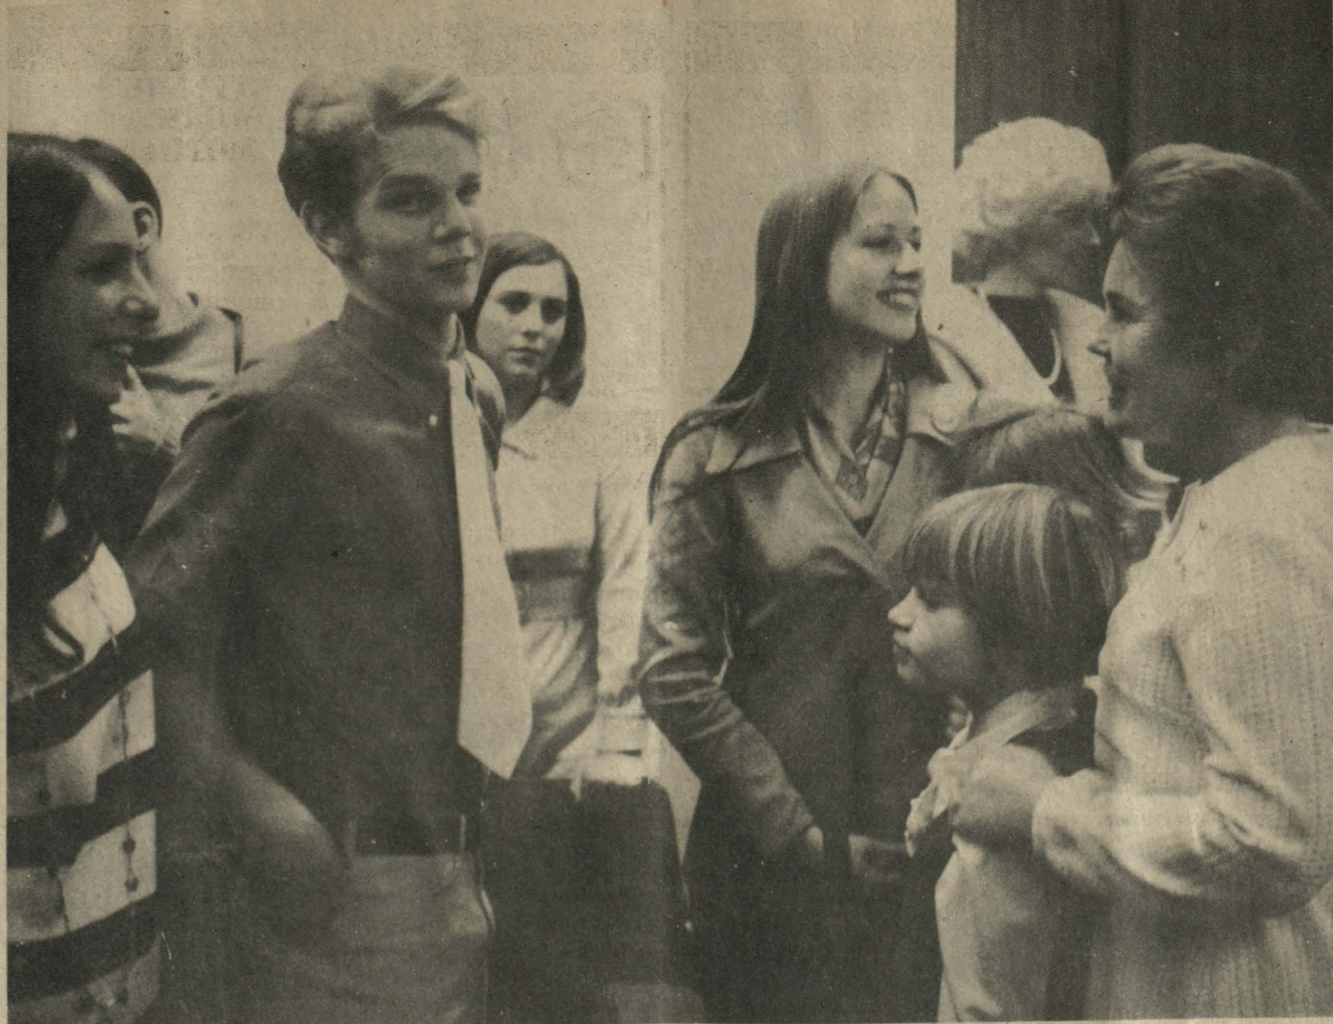

He gave up professional boxing when he found that even though winning, you could still sustain serious, and often permanent injuries.

Turning to karate, he went through from the first belt, white, through all the color-belt combinations, to earn the highest award, the Black Belt. Only a Black Belt holder can be qualified to teach in a karate school.

Even though a student may not aspire to hold the coveted Black Belt, he gains both physical and mental agility along with his skills in self defense, Ebertowski said.

AT MONTALVO

Montalvo drama committee announces a presentation of "The Amorous Flea," a musical comedy, at the Carriage House Theatre, Saturday at 8:30. Players are the Playhouse Repertory Theatre of San Francisco.

A REAL WELCOME—More than 50 people went to San Francisco Airport last Thursday to welcome home Roger Garcia, son of Mr. and Mrs.

Bob Garcia, on his return from London. Roger, who went to London to receive treatment for cancer of the spine, was accompanied by his mother and Lisa Congdon and a family friend, Mrs. Ann Davis. Here he stands with his sister, Lynn,

Solar systems shown Fridays at college planetarium

"Captives of the Sun" is the show currently on display each Friday evening at West Valley College's planetarium.

The show, which will run through April 30, discusses the planets of our solar system—as our ancestors saw them, and as we know them today. The facts (and some of the fictions) about the planets, comets and asteroids that circle our sun will also be revealed during the show.

"One Night in 1054 A.D." will follow the current show and will run from May 7 through June 11.

The first portion of each of the programs is devoted to a discussion of what is currently overhead in the sky of San Jose: constellations, stars, planets and other heavenly bodies.

Located on the Saratoga campus, the planetarium houses a Spitz A-4 planetarium projector, first of its kind on the West Coast. It is used extensively in the college's astronomy program, illustrating the star field, including the Milky Way, sun, moon, planets, Magellanic clouds and many other heavenly bodies.

HOURLY LUNCH

The rumor around Campbell High was that the hour lunch, passed by the Board Members last Feb. 27, will go into effect Monday, March 8, 1971. This is not true.

Mr. Armistead, vice-principal, feels that our principal, Mr. Peck, wanted to have the students become more involved with the hour lunch schedule. He thinks that nothing will happen yet until the PTA meeting tonight, March 10, 1971.

The students and administrators will discuss the ideas with parents in hopes that the lunch hour will be started soon. There are still a few things to straighten out before the lunch can be put into effect.

Mr. Armistead expressed the feeling, "that the hour lunch is much closer than it was before," and will be started as soon as everything is worked out.

Many people deserve thanks from us, the student body, for working so hard toward the hour lunch. Teachers, administrators and others have done more than their share. The rest is up to us, to show everyone that we are responsible enough to handle the new hour lunch situation.

PHARMACY PHACTS

What's the greatest cause of lost working hours? None other than that familiar infectious disease, the common cold. For employers and employees alike, colds are nothing to sneeze at.

Although penicillin was discovered by Sir Alexander Fleming in 1929, it wasn't until 1942 that this drug was mass-produced and made available to the public.

In one study of eyesight and sports, almost one-third of sports officials tested had uncorrected visual deficiencies. Who says umpires aren't blind?

During America's Colonial days, preachers on horseback often carried a small supply of medicines in their saddlebags and cared for the physical as well as the spiritual needs of the people.

FALSTAFF CUP

The Gaslighters came to within a wire of winning the Falstaff Cup and the All-Association Championship. In the championship match with the Albatross of Berkeley, the Gaslighters got the afternoon under way by winning the first team game.

Kip Fanjoy defeated Vas Arnautoff of the Albatross in what almost became a 21 dart skunk as Vas had double trouble trying to get in. The Albatross retaliated with Don Lepage, Joe Dawkins and Snowy Richardson taking the next three. The Gaslighter's Jim Macredes bounded back to win the last game of the first half. The score was now three to three.

In the second half the Gaslighters lost the team game but Jim Macredes took the first singles game in 16 darts. Then the Albatross's Joe Dawkins took his game in 14 darts. Ted Allen picked up another win for the Gaslighter. Snowy Richardson of the Albatross, not to be out-done, won his game in 12 darts with the Gaslighter's John Glaze taking the final singles game. The match was tied at 6-6.

The tie breaking game was a 1001 team game. The Albatross had trouble getting started but once they were in they shot good darts with Tom Sutak shooting two tons (100's) and Don Lepage hitting one ton. Both teams were down to within striking distance for the out when the Albatross's Joe Dawkins dropped a 45 out for the win. So the Falstaff Cup goes to the Albatross in Berkeley.

LEAGUE GAMES

The high scoring game of the first night of the Spring season has to be the match between Banbury Clock I and Lancashire Lad II. The Clock won the match 8-4, with Roy Haslam shooting a 91 away; Des Maples shooting two tons, a 140 and a 132 and Rick Miller hitting four tons. For the losers Bob Mayer hit two tons and Dave Hughey had a 140 and two tons.

Scarlett La Rue's of Los Gatos beat the Primrose Lanes II of Burlingame 11-1. The only highlight of that game was Dave Pena's 101 away only to be beaten by the Rose's Patrick Stratford in an 18 dart game.

What was probably the high in for the Association was Herb Waschaowski's 148 away. Coupled with Dom Valderrama's 138, they sparked Harold's Club to a 9-3 victory over Lancashire Lad III.

Lancashire Lad IV's Lynn Malsbury led the all-girls team to victory over Gaslighter Theater III 7-5 with a 123 and a ton. Marv Schwartz popped a 103 for the losers.

Other scores were: Primrose Lanes III 8 - Gaslighter Theater II 4; Primrose Lanes I - Black Knight I 6 - 6 tie; Black Knight II 8 - Andy Capp's 4; Gaslighter Theater IV 7 - Banbury Clock II 5; Lancashire Lad I 9 - Dutch Goose 3 and Scuttlebutt 8 - Black Watch 4.

WHO WRITES THESE THINGS?

Have you ever been scanning through your newspaper and run across an item which says: "The Chipmunks in New Zealand sleep with their tails in their mouths?"

I wonder who writes these things. Is there a little man somewhere going through the almanac trying to find something of that sort, or is there a chipmunk press agent somewhere feeding items to the wire services?

These things are known in the newspaper business as "fillers". I think, but I've never been able to trace their source. The papers use them to fill that last fraction of an inch in a column so that not so much white space shows between articles.

Perhaps there's a book somewhere that has all the items in it classified by fractions of an inch, so the Editor can specify, like an eighth of an inch item, then the typesetter just goes to the 1/8" chapter and picks something that looks interesting.

I don't know, maybe there's a computer somewhere that writes them to specifications, computers seem to do everything else. Can you imagine calling for a one-quarter inch item and having the linotype machine write: "97% of all golf tees are found, not purchased!" or: "The only place in the world where hockey pucks are sold commercially is Reykjavik, Iceland."

I'd like to start a collection of these "fillers", so if any of you readers know of some interesting ones, please send them to me, c/o this paper.

Schwinn

... for the young in heart!

When you buy a new bike at an "ordinary," non-bicycle store you often have to take the carton home and assemble the bike yourself. Frequently, an additional charge is made for the assembly service. When you buy a bike from us there is nothing ordinary about it. First, it is a Schwinn — one of the world's finest bicycles. Second, we are a factory franchised Schwinn dealer — so you can rely on our service and quality. Third — every bike we sell is assembled, adjusted, and ready-to-ride.

SERVICE? WE'LL TAKE CARE OF IT!

From time to time even the finest equipment requires the steady hand of a factory trained serviceman. If you need help, isn't it a comfort to know we're right around the corner. Whether it's a tire change, or a complete bike rebuilding job, we are ready ... cheerful, fast, and efficient.
